The N. P. R. S. has stood its ground firmly against unfair criticism and much misrepresentation, generally emanating, however, from disappointed competitors or Chilis of the class that compete for prizes from sordid considerations only. The Society can claim to have been the director indirect means of establishing many gymnasia (now under qualified tuition) as in Aberdeen. Poole, Dublin, Warrington. Hawarden. Liverpool. Birmingham, Dundee, etc., etc. Those who have toiled in the ranks are still enthusiastic, and while glancing behind at the eight years record of work, believe there is yet a great deal more to accomplish in the future, and they more than ever believe the motto of the Society to embody a great natural truth, viz: Civium Vires...
