

Lifelong Learning Post-compulsory Education and the University for Industry: A Case Study: An Investigation of the Impact of the UK Government Initiative Learndirect with Implications for Researchers and Teachers in Terms of the

By Jennifer M. Fullerty

Parkgate Press, United States, 2011. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 242 x 170 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Lifelong Learning focuses on educational and government policy by analysing the diversity of postmodern society, linking economic, cultural and technological issues. It targets the impact of a specific UK Government initiative - the University for Industry (Ufi) - in terms of educational outcomes across the human lifespan. By transcribing and interpreting one-to-one interviews, Dr Fullerty reveals government and curriculum inconsistencies in response to learners whole life educational needs. Lifelong Learning is a lively and incisive approach to the need for greater educational innovation in the UK and further afield. Dr Jennifer M. Fullerty was born in Lancashire, England and qualified as a Maths teacher in 1966. She became Company Secretary of a private manufacturing company in 1978 and later the sole proprietor of a property letting agency. She currently works as an educational consultant, children s tutor and primary school governor. She is proud to be a member of Soroptimist International advocating the best for women. Dr Fullerty is married with two children and two grandchildren and currently lives near Cambridge, England. Lifelong

Reviews

If you need to adding benefit, a must buy book. I could comprehended every thing out of this composed e pdf. I am just very happy to tell you that this is the greatest pdf i have study inside my individual existence and could be he finest publication for at any time.

-- Miss Laurie Waters IV

Most of these publication is the greatest publication offered. It is actually rally intriguing throug reading period of time. You can expect to like just how the article writer create this publication.

-- Eddie Schuppe